

Banking some good Results

Bank holiday weekend brings more success for all KORR pilots on their KTM's, Greg Evans and James Giddings traveled out to the first round of the European Enduro championship and Daryl Bolter stayed at home to train in the sand for the next BEC and race a local MX.

Round 1 of the European Enduro championship was held in Boussac, France this last weekend, the course was considered very easy with lots of road work and little to challenge the riders but the special tests made up for the easy track. Greg had a very successful weekend and each day topped the E2 Senior class on his KTM 305 EXC-F and on Sunday only just missed out on the overall event win because of a crash in the last extreme test.

James made his international debut in France and had 2 great rides in the E1 Junior class to finish 20th and 23rd respectively and was the top British rider in the class.

Daryl's weekend was also successful as he won all 3 Moto's at a local motocross race on his KTM250 EXC-F.

Greg Evans "The last month has been really good for me, since getting my new 305 motor everything is just starting to click, after the recent Sprint race I was sure I could come to France and have a good result. The only problem I had in France was concentrating, the course was too easy and quite boring and a couple of tests I made mistakes because of loss of concentration, shame because I felt on Sunday I could have taken the overall win. Anyway onto the next event now and I am really looking forward to next weekend in Scotland, Rd 2 of the BEC"

Julian Stevens "As a team we have really been working as hard as time and our budget allows recently, a combination of lots of testing and riding premier Enduro events against good competition has helped the riders and their machines reach a new level, we go to round 2 of the BEC in Scotland with alot of confidence. A big thanks to everyone in the team for the effort they have shown and to all our dedicated sponsors who help us with great technical products".

Next Event: British Enduro Championship Rd2 Scotland May 8/9th
