Jonny gets "Amped"

Up and coming Action Sports clothing Brand "Amped" has teamed up with KTM Off-Road Racing's Jonny Walker .

Rising Enduro and Extreme star Jonny Walker has attracted the attention of the equally up and coming exciting action sports brand "Amped" who will supply him with their cool lifestyle clothing which is aimed at Extreme and Adventure sports minded people.

Amped will also assist Jonny with video clips from events and have created a new website for him, so that you can keep up to date with his latest news, progress and in the future watch his video's clips and see some great pic's.

Amped MD Daniel Oliver " I am delighted to have Jonny joining the Amped team. To see just how quickly Jonny has adapted to the discipline from riding trials has been extremely impressive, with him already establishing himself as one the best in the country. He demonstrated this perfectly with his superb result at the Erzberg Rodeo where he was without question this year's standout rider, beating a number of the world's best. On top of this, finishing as the best British rider at this year's ISDE event is the real icing on the cake for what's been a great year for him. It's exciting for the Amped brand to have Jonny on board. He's a great talent and we can't wait to help support him as he continues to progress in the sport."

Julian Stevens Team manager " Its great that Amped offered to help support Jonny, it shows that he is getting noticed and on the way up, i'm sure they can create some really good PR for him and all our sponsors and in return we can help promote the brand Amped. Dan has designed and provided Jonny with a really great website and we a really looking forward to working together for success in 2012 "
