European Enduro Championship , France Final Round

Another successful weekend for KORR riders in the last race of the 2011 European Enduro Championship held at Riom es Montagnes, France, the final would be 3 days of Enduro completed with a final MX race.

Greg Evans Azego KTM 350 XCF:- the defending E2 Senior Champion who recently broke his collarbone at the 6 Days returned to top form and had 3 excellent days in France, Battling with Michael Szuster of Poland, "Special" Greg won both the first two days and went into the final day's MX race with a good advantage in the points table. So to complete a hat trick Greg made a holeshot in the final MX and lead from start to finish to yet again win the E2 European Senior crown.

Jonny Walker Azego KTM 300 EXC:- riding his practice bike as his race bike is being prepared for this weeks BEC final Jonny had a great weekend in France, Saturday's result was tainted by a mistake on one special test which cost him 40 seconds, however he finished 2nd in the Junior E2/E3 class both days. And just like his team mate the former trials rider showed his MX potential by easily winning his groups final race, Jonny finished runner up in the championship to fellow UK rider Danny McCanny.

Julian Stevens Team Manager:- " I'm really pleased for both Greg and Jonny, Gregs bounced back well from his recent injury and rode very consistently during the 3 days despite pressure from rivals to take the championship again. Jonny also made an impressive result on all 3 days finishing on the podium in his class and also high up in the overall, once again thanks to all that help the KORR riders and our sponsors. This weekend we go to the final round of the British Enduro Championship, Greg has a small overall lead and lets hope he can win his first British Title to go with his Europeans. Jonny is in a close Battle for the E3 title with his European rival Danny McCanny and Daryl Bolter KTM 250 XCF is battling with fellow E1 rival Paul Edmondson for another championship"
