

Ready To Race !!!

KTM Off Road Racing is ready to race in 2011 and in just one weeks time will arrive at the first race of the season the Eddy Extreme Enduro with Greg Evans and Jonny Walker. There hasn't really been an off season for KORR, everyday since the last BEC we have been preparing for the up coming season, finely tuning the new 2011 KTM models to compliment each rider.

KORR takes very seriously challenges from all other teams in the paddock and we are never one to sit still, we have new bikes, additional sponsors and we introduce and develop new talent.

So firstly we will debut KTM's new XCF range, 250 and 350Fs with all new chassis and fuel injection for Daryl Bolter and Greg Evans, but we don't forget our 2 strokes, how can we ? Julian is an absolute master at tuning 2 stroke motors and takes his nickname of Smooth from making engines with just those characteristics, maximum power with maximum control.

Young guns Jonny Walker and James Giddings will pilot the 300 and 125EXC KTM 2 strokes, Greg Evans will also have his moments on a 250EXC at certain extreme events.

We continue with many of our sponsors again, preferring to stay with what we know works best, but after a very successful 2010 season we have been fortunate to gain attention of a few more. So for 2011 we welcome Motorex from Switzerland the officially approved oil of KTM, Tough Plant Hire run by Enduro enthusiast Dave Coles joins us as a sponsor and team supported Veteran rider, another off-road enthusiast brings his company Symprove to the camp which will be helping us with additives to improve our diet.

The whole team will be looking very smart as Acerbis becomes our main clothing and plastic sponsor with Scott Goggles keeping things clear, Kriega will take care of drink systems and bum bags, Rekluse will help with high quality clutch components and S3 Racing supply special cylinder heads for our 2 strokes.

Its going to be a very interesting season, the team will compete in all major UK races as well as the European championship and certain international extreme races for Jonny Walker. You can follow our progress on our website or just search Facebook for the latest info from KTM Off-Road Racing.
